It was first opened in October, 1867, and has ver since been crowded with young men and women eager for an education. It originated in ever since been crowded with young men and women eager for an education. It originated in a proposal of John Storer, of Maine, a Congregational brother: to give $10,000 to found a Normal College at the South, on condition that others contributed a like sum to the same purpose, and no distinction on account of race or color. A few Christian men in Western New York collected the required amount, (with a little aid from friends in New England, and the School became a fact.

Through the influence of the late Senator

Through the influence of the late Senator Fessenden, of Maine, Senator (now Vice President) Wilson, of Massachusetts, General Carfield, of Ohio, and others, Congress donated the four large brick dwelling houses, and the land on which they stand, situated on the heights above the ferry, to the Trustees of the College. The buildings had been riddled by shot and shell; but, by the aid of contributions from the Freedman's Bureau and from generous friends at the North, they were repaired, and another large building erected. Into these buildings about two hundred young people are crowded every term, and trained for teaching and other positions of usefulness.

art department, 1874. The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is an admitted fact that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapid-ity yielding to a more educated and discrimin-ating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facili-ty of production. The wood-cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elabor-ate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artist's original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other desent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will re-produce examples of the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will at a trilling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art. The quarterly tinted plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. D. Woodward. The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attrac-tions any of its predecessors.

Premium for 1374. Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dolars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The East" and "The West." One is a view in The White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other gives The Cliffs of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size (12 x 16) and appearance exact fac-similes of the originals.
